The bark Edward May sails for Puget Sound this morning.
Deputy Collector Leslie Scott is suffering from a severe cold.

Under the head of sick report the transport Tartar had a clean sheet on arrival here. This is very unusual indeed.

Health Officers Reynolds and Charlock dumped overboard yesterday afternoon outside of the harbor about 200 pounds of oysters.

It is expected that the transports Tartar, Newport and Manauense will all sail for Manila tomorrow, or not later than Monday morning early.

The yacht Norna at last sailed for the South yesterday afternoon after a long search for a sailing master. Captain Jacobsen was solicited to go, but declined on account of the small wages. Commodore Weaver's opinion of Honolulu may be surmised from the fact that he did not deign to hoist his ensign when sailing out of the harbor. From Micronesia the Norna will probably go over to the South American coast, thence around Cape Horn.
